PARLIAMENTARY TERMS AND PROCEEDINGS.

* * In the following remarks the word House is to be understood to mean the House of Commons, unless it is obvious that it refers to the House of Lords or to either House.

ADJOURNMENT.—An adjournment compels the immediate rising of the House, who meet again at the time appointed for the next sitting, or adjourns the business on which the House is then engaged until a future day. The adjournment of the House is effected either by virtue of a Standing Order, or by the order of the House. See Counts Out, Sittings of Parliament, and Sittings of the House.

ADJOURNMENT OF THE HOUSE MOVED BEFORE PUBLIC BUSINESS.—A Member may rise to move the adjournment of the House for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance. This motion may only be made after the questions to Ministers on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays have been disposed of, and before the commencement of Public Business has been entered upon. The terms of the motion must be given to the Speaker in writing. If forty Members do not rise in support of it, the motion falls, unless, not less than ten having so risen, and a division being claimed, the majority are in favour of the motion. If the motion is made, it must stand over until a quarter past eight of the same day.

ADJOURNMENT, MOTIONS FOR, IN ABUSE OF THE RULES.—If the Speaker, or the Chairman of a Committee of the whole House, shall be of opinion that a Motion for the Adjournment of a Debate, or of the House, during any Debate, or a Motion that the Chairman do report Progress, or do leave the Chair, is an abuse of the Rules of the House, he may forthwith put the Question thereupon from the Chair, or he may decline to propose the Question to the House.

AMENDMENT.—See Business, Debate, &c.

APPROPRIATION BILL.—When all the grants necessary for the service of the year have been voted, the expenditure of each grant upon the service for which the grant is made is secured by the Appropriation Act, which closes the financial procedure of the year. See also Supply and Ways and Means.

BALLOT FOR NOTICES OF MOTION.—To obtain priority for a notice of motion on a day set apart for the consideration of motions before the Orders of the Day, Members avail themselves of the ballot held for that purpose on the Table of the House before questions are asked of the Ministers. The Member seeking such priority enters his name upon a paper which is placed in the Speaker's hands, who, when the number attached to the Member's name has been drawn out and announced to the House by a Clerk at the Table, calls upon the Member to state to the House the terms of his motion and the day when it is to be considered.

As it is essential, in the case of an unofficial Member's bill, that it should be set down for second reading on the earliest Friday in the session, Members on the first day of the session ballot to obtain priority for the motions for leave to bring in their bills, as the Members who obtain the earliest places among those notices of motion are able to choose the most advantageous Fridays for the second reading of their bills.

BILLS (PUBLIC).—A bill is the draft of a statute. There are three modes of introducing bills to the House. (1) A motion for leave to introduce a bill. (This is necessary for important Government bills.) (2) Introduction under the so-called ten minutes rule. (3) Presentation of a bill without previous order for leave to introduce. A bill originated in the Lords may be laid on the table by a peer without the previous permission of the House.

Permission having been granted to bring in the bill, three or four Members are appointed to prepare the bill. It is then brought in and read a first time without debate, and a day appointed for the second reading, previously to which it is printed and a copy furnished to every Member.

The bill, after the second reading, is referred to a Committee of the whole House, or to a Standing or a Select Committee (see Committees), whereby its details are considered. The Speaker leaves the Chair for the Committee without question put, when the bill is considered clause by clause, and sometimes the bill is largely remodelled. Sums to be charged on the public revenue, penalties, &c., are printed in italics; the words in italics, technically known as blanks, are agreed to without a question being put, unless a member should propose to alter them. The next proceeding is the report of the bill to the House by the Chairman of the Committee, which he does by stating to the Speaker "that the Committee had gone through the bill," and either "made amendments thereunto" or "had directed him to report the same without amendment." The report of a bill is a formal proceeding. If no amendments have been made the bill is ordered to be read a third time; but if the Committee have altered it, the bill, as amended, is ordered to be taken into consideration on a future day, when the House proceeds to consider the bill without questions put.

On the third reading the judgment of the House is expressed upon the entire bill as it finally stands, and only verbal amendments can be made at this stage, though it is otherwise in the House of Lords. The question that the "bill do pass," according to present usage, is not put to the House.

During the progress of a bill the House may divide on the following questions: 1st, on the motion for leave to bring in the bill; 2nd, on the first reading; 3rd, on the second reading; 4th, that the bill be re-committed; 5th, that it be read a third time. These are exclusive of divisions on an instruction to the Committee, or on amendments, or clauses added to or expunged from the measure in or out of the Committee. Alterations cannot be made in a bill until after its committal. Immediately after the passing of a bill, the Clerk of the House takes the bill to the bar of their Lordships' House, desiring their concurrence, where it passes through the same forms as in the Commons. Pursuant to Standing Order a Commons bill which has remained 12 days on the table of the House of Lords cannot be proceeded with save upon 8 days' notice. If a bill which has passed the other House be rejected, no message thereon is sent to either House. When the Lords agree with the Commons in the principle of the measure, but differ on matters of detail, they return the bill with amendments to which the Commons agree, with or without amendments, or disagree. The same proceedings are adopted mutatis mutandis when the bill originates in the Upper House. A bill for a general pardon or act of grace originates with the Crown, and is read once only in each House.

Under the Parliament Act, 1911, if a money bill, having been passed by the House of Commons, and sent up to the House of Lords at least one month before the end of the session, is not passed by the Lords without amendment within one month after it has been sent up, the bill shall unless the House direct to the contrary, be presented to the Sovereign and become an Act on the Royal Assent being given, notwithstanding that the House of Lords have not consented to the bill.

If any public bill (other than a money bill) is passed by the House of Commons in three successive sessions—whether of the same Parliament or not—and, having been sent up to the House of Lords at least one month before the end of the session, is rejected by the Lords in each of these sessions, that bill shall, on its rejection for the third time by the Lords, unless the House of Commons direct to the contrary, be presented to the Sovereign and become an Act on the Royal Assent being given, notwithstanding that the Lords have not consented to the bill. This provision shall not take effect unless two years have elapsed between the date of the second reading in the first of those sessions in the House of Commons and the date on which it passes in the third session.

When a bill is presented to the Sovereign under the above provisions there shall be endorsed on the bill the certificate of the Speaker, signed by him, that the necessary provisions have been complied with.

A bill having passed both Houses, remains with the Lords, except in the case of a bill of supply, which is sent back to the Commons, to be by them presented at the bar of the Lords to the Sovereign or the royal Commissioners. The assent of the Crown is the final proceeding which converts a bill into an Act of Parliament, which is printed by the King's printer on vellum, and preserved in the House of Lords. See Royal Assent, and Conference. See Origin of Bills; also Rejection of a Bill.

BILLS (PRIVATE).—These are chiefly introduced to enable private individuals, associated together, to undertake railways or other works of public utility at their own risk, and, in a degree, for their own benefit; but there are other private bills, as those of naturalization, change of name, divorce, or for perfecting titles to estates, &c. The parliamentary fees paid by the promoters of a private bill are fixed by the Standing Orders of both Houses.

BILLS (PROVISIONAL ORDER).—These bills are carried through Parliament according to the procedure assigned to Private Bills. The object of a Provisional Order Bill is to give statutory force to Orders granted (under powers conferred by Statute) by Government Departments, such as the Home Office, the Board of Trade, &c., which make provision for undertakings of public and general utility, such as the improvement of working men's dwellings, the construction of piers and harbours, gas, water-works, and tramways. These bills, which thus effect the purposes of a private bill, are obtainable with more rapidity, and at a less cost.

BILLS, MOTIONS FOR, AT COMMENCEMENT OF PUBLIC BUSINESS.—On Tuesdays and Wednesdays, and on Mondays and Thursdays for Government bills, Motions for leave to bring in bills and for the nomination of Select Committees may be set down for consideration at the commencement of Public Business. If such Motions be opposed, Mr. Speaker, after permitting, if he thinks fit, a brief explanatory statement from the Member who moves and the Member who opposes any such Motion respectively, may without further Debate put the Question thereon, or the Question That the Debate be adjourned.

BLACK ROD (Gentleman Usher of the).—See Serjeant-at-Arms.

BUDGET (THE).—The Chancellor of the Exchequer, or occasionally the First Lord of the Treasury, makes a general statement every year to the House of Commons, usually in Committee of Ways and Means, which has for a long time past been called "the Budget." This statement is based on a review of the income and expenditure of the last year, and estimates of those of the ensuing year, with remarks upon the financial prospects of the country, and an exposition of the proposed repeal, modifications, or imposition of taxes to be accomplished by the finance bills of the session. See Ways and Means.

BUSINESS, ORDER AND TRANSACTION OF, IN PARLIAMENT.—On each sitting of the House, after the private business, and questions have been asked of the Ministers, the time for the commencement of public business has arrived. The Speaker accordingly calls on the Clerk to read the Orders of the Day, or calls on the member whose motion stands first on the list of notices, or who is otherwise entitled to precedence.

By Standing Order Members may take the oath required by law (or make the solemn affirmation or declaration permitted instead of the oath), either before the commencement of public business, or after it has been disposed of. During each session the days allotted to Government business are Monday and Thursday (unless the House otherwise direct), after Easter it has precedence on Tuesday evenings, and after Whitsuntide, until Michaelmas, at all sittings except the sittings on the third and fourth Fridays after Whit Sunday.

Motions proposed by unofficial Members should be seconded (except motions consequent upon an order of the day or when the House is in Committee), otherwise they fall to the ground. According to the practice outside Parliament, when an amendment has been moved, it is usual to give precedence to the amendment over the motion on which it is moved; but in Parliament the practice is that the Speaker or Chairman should read to the House the original motion, next that he should read the amendment, and then say, "the question I have to put is, that the words proposed to be left out (by the amendment) stand part of the question." Should the "noes" prevail, the amendment then becomes a substantive motion, upon which other amendments may be moved, and considered in like manner as the first. It is sometimes erroneously supposed that a Member who is adverse both to the original question and to the proposed amendment would express an opinion favourable to the question by voting "that the words proposed to be left out stand part of the question." By such a course, however, he merely declares his opinion to be adverse to the amendment. If, however, he be equally opposed to the motion and to the amendment, he may vote with the noes on both.

In the House of Commons it is contrary to order for those engaged in debate to mention any Member by name (excepting the Chairman of Committees). It is also out of order to speak in direct terms of any proceedings of the other House, unless they have been recorded in the votes or orders of the other House. It is also irregular to refer to the opinions of the Sovereign; speeches from the throne and royal messages being treated as the sentiments of the ministry, which the Sovereign utters or communicates on their responsibility.

Members speaking in the House of Commons must address themselves to the Speaker; they may do so from any part of the House, but their speeches must not be read, but they are permitted to use notes. No member may speak more than once upon a question, except by way of reply or explanation, or when in Committee of the whole House. It is out of order for any Member to cross the House between the Speaker and the Member speaking. (See Conduct of Members, Naming a Member, Motions, and Resolution.)

In the House of Lords the rules of order differ in some particulars from those observed in the Commons. In debate those who speak address the whole House, and not the chairman. Motions need not here, as in the Commons, be seconded. The Peer who sits on the woolsack or in the chair of committees has no duties to perform during the deliberations of the House, excepting to "put the question." He is not the judge or guardian of order. If several Peers rise together, the House decides who shall first be heard. The speaker or deputy speaker of the Lords is not disqualified ex officio from taking a part in debate.

CABINET.—The government of a state or community is understood to signify the exercise of supreme authority, and includes the executive, the legislative, and the judicial powers; but in popular acception it means only the first of these, the higher and more immediate functions of which are exercised by the Cabinet, a select body in whom, for the time being, the whole of the royal authority is vested. Its members all belong to the Privy Council, but do not include a tithe of that body. The Cabinet is composed of the more eminent portion of the Administration; it constitutes occasionally, according to recent practice, about one-fourth of the ministry and the officers of state nominated by the Prime Minister, the persons included in the Cabinet being rarely less than ten or more than seventeen or eighteen. The Cabinet being more immediately responsible for the conduct of public affairs, their deliberations are always considered confidential, and kept secret even from their colleagues who are less exalted in office. The distinguished individual who fills the situation of First Lord of the Treasury is generally (though there has been an exception) the chief of the Ministry, and therefore of the Cabinet: he is usually styled the Prime Minister, or Premier, and is the head of his Majesty's government. It is at his immediate recommendation that his colleagues are appointed, and, with hardly an exception, he dispenses the patronage of the Crown. Every Cabinet includes the following high officers:—The First Lord of the Treasury, the Lord Chancellor, the Lord President of the Council, the Lord Privy Seal, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the Secretaries of State for Home, Foreign, Colonies, War and India. Several other ministerial functionaries, however, may have seats in the Cabinet; never less than three, and rarely so many as seven or eight of this latter class, are called to that station. Their offices are as follow:—Commissioner of Works and Buildings, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, First Lord of the Admiralty, President of the Board of Trade, Judge Advocate-General, Postmaster-General, Chief Secretary for Ireland, Lord Lieutenant and Lord Chancellor of Ireland, Presidents of the Local Government Board, Board of Education, and Board of Agriculture, and the Secretary for Scotland. The selection usually falls upon those amongst the latter mentioned functionaries, whose rank, talents, reputation, and political weight render them the most useful auxiliaries, or whose services, while in opposition, may have created the strongest claims to the honours of the Cabinet. It has occasionally happened that a statesman, being a Privy Councillor, possessing high character and influence, accepts a seat in the Cabinet without undertaking the labours and responsibility of any particular office. Although this select council has now been regarded during several generations as an essential part of our polity, yet it still continues to be unknown to the law. The names of the noblemen and gentlemen who compose it are never officially announced to the public. No record is kept of its resolutions or meetings, nor has its existence ever been recognized by any act of parliament. See Crown, and Executive.

CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEE OF WAYS AND MEANS.—This officer of the House of Commons—always a Member—is elected by the House, in Committee of Supply, on the assembling of every new Parliament. It is his duty to preside whenever the House is in Committee whether on bills or any other Committee of the whole House; he sits, not in the Speaker's chair, but at the table in the seat of the Clerk of the House. The only occasion when he votes, in committee, is in giving the casting vote, if on a division the numbers happen to be equal. With the assistance of the Speaker's Counsel he examines Private Bills to ascertain that they comply with the law of Parliament. If the unavoidable absence of the Speaker is announced to the House by the Clerk, the Chairman of Ways and Means acts as Deputy-Speaker and performs the duties and exercises the authority of Speaker in relation to all proceedings, until the close of the sitting; or he takes the chair on the request of the Speaker. If the Chairman is absent a Deputy-Chairman, who is entitled to exercise all the powers of Chairman, including those as Deputy-Speaker, is also appointed at the commencement of every new Parliament. The Speaker nominates five members to act, when requested to do so by the Chairman of Ways and Means, as temporary Chairman of Committees. See Speaker, his duties, &c.

CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEES OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.—In the Commons, the Chairman of Committees of the whole House is usually the Chairman of Ways and Means; in the Lords he is elected by the House every Session, and usually holds in addition the office of Deputy-Speaker.

CHILTERN HUNDREDS, &c.—A Member cannot relinquish his seat. A Member, therefore, who wishes to retire, accepts office under the Crown, as no member can accept an office receiving emolument from the Crown without thereby vacating his seat. A Member, accordingly, who wishes to resign his seat in the House applies to the Treasury, and he receives, unless causes exist for refusing the application, one of the offices of the Stewardship of his Majesty's three Chiltern Hundreds—Stoke, Desborough, and Bonenham; or the Stewardship of the Manor of Northstead, sinecures which are retained until the office is wanted for another holder. The holders of old offices such as the Secretaries of State or the Chancellor of Exchequer can sit in the House of Commons, after re-election on acceptance of office. The holders of certain departmental offices, either because they are not held directly from the Crown, or by statutory provision, can retain their seats in the House without re-election. Of these offices may be mentioned an ambassador, or foreign minister, the Under-Secretaries of State, or the Secretary to the Admiralty. By the Reform Acts of 1867 and 1868 it was enacted that Members who hold the principal offices of state should not, on the acceptance of other offices, thereby vacate their seats.

CLERK OF THE PARLIAMENTS.—He, as Clerk of the House of Lords, is responsible for the due record and publication of the proceedings and journals of the House. In this duty he is assisted by the Clerk Assistant and the Reading Clerk, who sit with him at the table of the House. He is also responsible for the due conduct of the business of the House, and of the Clerks attached thereto. He signifies the royal assent to the bills agreed upon by both Houses of Parliament. He endorses the bills communicated between the two Houses, and signs orders for the attendance of witnesses, and other orders of the House. The Clerk of the Parliaments is appointed by the Crown under letters patent and he appoints the clerks of the departments under his control. The Clerk Assistant and the Reading Clerk are appointed by the Lord Chancellor.

CLERK OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.—His duty towards the House of Commons is analogous to the duties which devolve on the Clerk of the Parliaments. He sits with the two Clerks Assistant at the table of the House. He reads aloud all such documents as are by custom or order read to the House ; he performs the duty (from his place at the table) of president or moderator during the choice of a Speaker, putting, if a difference occurs thereon, the questions consequent on that occasion, and directing, if necessary, the House to divide upon the question. The Clerk of the House is appointed by the Crown by letters patent, and the Clerks Assistant by royal warrant.

CLOSURE OF DEBATE (HOUSE OF COMMONS).—After a question has been proposed, a Member may rise and claim "That the question be now put," and unless that motion appears to the Speaker, the Deputy-Speaker, or the Chairman of Ways and Means to be an abuse of the Rules of the House, or an infringement of the rights of the minority, the question, "That the question be now put," is put forthwith, and decided without Amendment or Debate. The Standing Order also enacts that, after the Closure has been carried, consequent motions, clauses, and parts of clauses may be similarly proposed and carried. A motion may be made that, with respect to certain words defined in the motion, or a clause or schedule, the chair be empowered to select the amendments to be proposed. Such a motion shall be put forthwith and decided without amendment or debate. If the motion be carried the chair shall then and thereafter exercise the power of selecting the amendments. Questions for the closure of debate or selection of amendments shall be decided in the affirmative if the majority in support of the motion consist of not less than one hundred members.

COMMITTALS FOR BREACH OF PRIVILEGE.—In common with courts of law, the Houses of Parliament can punish all contempts of their authority, or repress any aggression committed upon their rights or privileges ; but in the case of the Commons the operation of this power is limited to the session of Parliament, committals by that House being annulled by a prorogation. Persons committed to prison for contempt cannot be liberated on bail.

COMMITTEES.—A Committee of the whole House is the House itself presided over by a Chairman instead of by the Speaker. The function of such a Committee is deliberation and not inquiry; they are appointed to consider resolutions for the grant or the levy of public money, such as the Committees of Supply and Ways and Means, or resolutions as a preparation for legislation, and also to consider the details of a bill. The Speaker leaves the Chair forthwith upon a Committee of the whole House, save in the case of the Committee of Supply, &c. When the House of Commons is in Committee, the Speaker vacates the Chair, the Mace is placed under the table, and the Chairman of Ways and Means, or in his absence a temporary chairman, is called on to preside. (See Chairman of Committees and of Ways and Means.)

Under the Standing Orders four Standing Committees may be appointed for the consideration of such bills as may be committed to them; the procedure in such committees is the same as in a Select Committee, unless the House shall otherwise order, and strangers are admitted, except when the Committee shall order them to withdraw. These Committees cannot sit while the House is sitting except on a resolution of the Committee moved by the member in charge of the bill before the Committee, and decided without amendment or debate, and shall not sit after 4 p.m. without the order of the House. Notices of amendment to clauses in bills committed to a Standing Committee, given in the House, stand referred to such Committee; 20 are the quorum of the Standing Committees. They shall consist of not less than 60 nor more than 80 Members, nominated by the Committee of Selection, who shall have regard to the classes of bills committed to such Committees, to the composition of the House, and to the qualifications of the Members selected, and shall have power to discharge Members for non-attendance or at their own request and to appoint others in their place. For the consideration of all Public Bills relating exclusively to Wales and Monmouthshire the Committee shall comprise all members for these constituencies. The Committee of Selection have power to add not more than 15 members to a Standing Committee in respect to any bill referred to it, to serve on the Committee during the consideration of such bill. The Committee of Selection nominate a chairman's panel, of not less than four nor more than eight Members, three being a quorum, and the chairman's panel shall appoint from among themselves the Chairman of each Standing Committee.

One of the Standing Committees shall be appointed for the consideration of all Public Bills relating exclusively to Scotland, and shall include all the members for Scottish constituencies, together with not more than 15 other members to be nominated in respect of any bill, by the Committee of Selection.

In all but one of the Standing Committees Government Bills shall have precedence.

Standing Orders as to irrelevance and repetition and the closure shall apply to Standing Committees with the exception that 20 is the majority necessary for the closure. The Chairman of a Standing Committee shall have the same powers as the Chairman of a Committee of the whole House has under the Standing Order as to dilatory motions.

Select Committees also are chosen to inquire into and to report to the House the matters referred to them; also to consider the clauses of bills. These Committees seldom exceed 20 Members; and there are also Committees on private bills. Select Committees are generally empowered by the House to send for papers and to summon witnesses. The House of Commons or any Committee thereof is enabled to administer oaths to witnesses; and any person wilfully giving false evidence is liable to the penalties of perjury. See Privileges of Parliament.

COMMONS, HOUSE OF.—See House of Commons.

CONDUCT OF MEMBERS.—Whenever a Member shall have been named by the Speaker or by the Chairman as disregarding the authority of the Chair, such Member shall be suspended from the service of the House. If any member who has been suspended shall refuse to obey the direction of the Speaker, the Speaker shall call attention to the fact that force is necessary in order to compel obedience, the member who has refused to obey shall thereupon be suspended during the remainder of the session. Suspension does not exonerate the Member from serving on committees to which he had previously been nominated. Similar disregard of order in Committee of the whole House is reported to and dealt with by the House. The Speaker, or the Chairman, orders Members whose conduct is grossly disorderly to withdraw immediately from the House during the remainder of that day's sitting; and the Serjeant-at-Arms acts on such orders as he may receive from the Chair, in pursuance of this resolution. If, however, the Speaker or the Chairman deems that his powers under the Standing Order are inadequate, he may name such Member or Members, or he may call upon the House to adjudge upon the conduct of such Member or Members. J

152 DOD'S PARLIAMENTARY COMPANION.

Members who are ordered to withdraw under this Standing Order, or who are suspended under Standing Order, must forthwith withdraw from the precincts of the House, subject, however in the case of suspended Members, to the provision regarding their service on Private Bill Committees.

Irrelevance or Repetition.—The Speaker or the Chairman, after having called the attention of the House or of the Committee to the conduct of a Member who persists in irrelevance or tedious repetition either of his own arguments or of the arguments used by other Members in debate, may direct him to discontinue his speech. See also Naming a Member.

CONFERENCE.—This is a method of negotiation between the two Houses of Parliament, conducted by managers appointed on both sides, for the purpose of producing concurrence, in cases where mutual consent is necessary; or for the purpose of reconciling differences which may have arisen. If the conference be upon the subject of a bill depending between the two Houses, it must be demanded by that House which, at the time of asking the conference, is in possession of the bill. It is the privilege of the Lords to name the time and place for holding a conference, no matter by which House it may have been demanded. Reasons in writing for the course resolved to be taken are furnished to the managers on both sides, or a free conference can be held, when the managers attempt by discussion to effect an agreement between the two Houses. In 1851, it was agreed both by Lords and Commons that reasons respecting differences of opinion on any bill, or other proceeding, might be communicated to either House by message from the other, and this method has in effect superseded procedure by conference. See also Bills, Public.

CONSOLIDATED FUND, THE, is the fund formed of the proceeds of taxation, and other sums received by the Treasury in behalf of the Crown, in order that a fund may be provided "into which shall flow every stream of the public revenue, and from whence shall issue the supply for every public service."

CONTEMPT OF PARLIAMENT.—See Committals.

COUNTS-OUT(in the House of Commons).—The Speaker, if necessary, counts the House when he takes the Chair, and if forty Members are not present or do not assemble in two minutes, as indicated by the sand-glass upon the table, the House stands adjourned to the next day of meeting. This also takes place during a sitting, on the demand of a Member that the House be counted. The House shall not be counted between a quarter past eight and a quarter past nine, but if on a division being taken on any business, and 40 members are not present, the business shall stand over until the next sitting, and the next business shall be taken. Such an adjournment is called a "Count-out."

CROWN.—The prerogatives and functions of the Crown may be summed up under the following heads :—To give or refuse to bills the "Royal Assent" (which see); to cause the due administration and execution of the laws; to act on behalf of the whole community in its intercourse with Foreign States, and as a part of that, to declare war or conclude peace; to direct the naval and military force of the country; to administer the public revenue; to prorogue or dissolve Parliament; to create peers; and to coin money. The monarch is the supreme governor of the Church; the source of justice and of mercy, of all offices, honours, emoluments, and chartered rights. But in every case the sovereign acts by ministers who are amenable to Parliament, and the choice of those ministers is the only prerogative which can be constitutionally exercised without responsible advisers; but even over this there is much Parliamentary control, for the royal favour can have no practical effect unless it rest upon men whose characters and measures prove generally acceptable to both Houses. (See Cabinet.)

DEBATE, RULES OF.—A Member desiring to speak rises in his place uncovered, and addresses himself to Mr. Speaker; but no Member may speak twice to a question, except in explanation or reply, which is allowed to a Member who has made a substantive motion to the House. A Member may not read his speech, but he may refresh his memory by reference to notes. A Member who rises to speak must direct his speech to the question before the House, or to a motion or amendment which he intends to move or to a question of order. When an amendment has been moved which seeks to substitute for a motion words more or less at variance thereto, debate is not restricted to the amendment, but includes the motive of the amendment and of the motion, both matters being under the consideration of the House, as alternative propositions; but if the amendment be to add words only, debate is restricted to the desirability of the addition of those words.

No Member may speak to any question after the same has been fully put by Mr. Speaker; and a question is fully put when the Speaker has collected the voices both of the Ayes and of the Noes. When two or more Members rise to speak, Mr. Speaker calls upon the Member who, on rising in his place, is first observed by Mr. Speaker; but if the Speaker's call be questioned, the House can determine which Member shall be heard. A new Member, who has not yet spoken, is generally called upon, by courtesy, in preference to other Members rising at the same time. A Member who has moved the adjournment of a debate is, if he claims the privilege, allowed precedence in addressing the House when the debate is resumed, or he may subsequently join in the debate. By the indulgence of the House, a Member may make a personal explanation, although there be no question before the House; but no debatable matter may be brought forward, or debate arise upon the explanation. See Closure, &c.

DISSOLUTION.—See Sittings of Parliament.

DIVISIONS, MODE OF TAKING.—After the Question has been put by the Speaker, or Chairman, and his statement as to the preponderance of the "Ayes" or "Noes," as the case may be, has been challenged, the division bells are set in motion for the assembling of absent Members. After the lapse of two minutes the question is again put, and if the statement from the chair is again challenged, tellers are then nominated. After the lapse of six minutes from the first putting of the question the doors are then locked and the Speaker, or Chairman, directs the "Ayes" to go into the Right Lobby and the "Noes" into the Left Lobby. As the Members pass through the Lobbies, the Division Clerks take their names, and their number is counted by the Tellers. The result being reported by the Tellers to the Speaker, or Chairman, he declares the number to the House. A member may vote in a division although he did not hear the question put. A member is not obliged to vote. (See also Speaker of the House of Commons.)

DIVISIONS FRIVOLOUSLY CLAIMED.—The Speaker or the Chairman may, after the lapse of two minutes as indicated by the sand-glass, if in his opinion the Division is frivolously or vexatiously claimed, take the Vote of the House or Committee by calling upon the Members who support and who challenge his decision successively to rise in their places, and he shall thereupon, as he thinks fit, either declare the determination of the House or Committee, or name tellers for a Division.

ELECTION OF MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT.—The Writs for the election of a new Parliament are issued by the Lord Chancellor upon a warrant from the Sovereign in Council, and, during a Parliament, by the order of the House, or upon the Speaker's warrant.

In the counties public notice of the day and place of election must be given by the returning officer within two days of the receipt of the writ, and the nomination must not be sooner than the fourth or later than the ninth day after the receipt of the writ. In boroughs, the nomination must take place within four days of the receipt of the writ, after giving two days' public notice. The nominations must be in writing. If at the appointed time no more candidates are nominated than there are vacancies, those candidates nominated are declared duly elected, but if the candidates exceed the vacancies the election is taken by ballot papers at various polling stations, and the names of the candidates who have received the majority of votes are declared elected. In counties the polling day must not be less than two or more than six clear days, and in boroughs within three days, after the day of nomination. The returning officer must give public notice, as soon as possible, of the names of the candidates elected and the total number of votes given to each candidate. The writ, endorsed with the name or names of the person or persons elected, is then returned to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, to whom all documents relating to the election are delivered. The elected candidate is considered to be a Member of Parliament immediately after public notice has been given, but cannot act as a legislator until he has taken the necessary oaths.

EXECUTIVE.—The following comprise the principal departments of the executive government :—The Treasury and Exchequer, the Admiralty, the War Office, the Home Office, the India Office, the Colonial Office, the Board of Trade, the Foreign Office, the Board of Works, the Office of the Privy Seal, the Office of the Duchy of Lancaster, Secretary for Scotland, the Office of Chief Secretary for Ireland, the Local Government Board, the Post Office, the Privy Council Office, the Board of Education and the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries. The public functionaries to whom the conduct in chief of these several departments is entrusted, together with the great officers of the royal household, constitute what is termed the Ministry or Administration. Its members vary according to circumstances, rarely exceeding fifty or sixty persons. The Administration usually resign when they lose the confidence of either House of Parliament; or they may be dismissed by the Sovereign; and it is competent for either House to present an address to the throne, praying their dismissal. The members of a government are understood to concur in principles of legislation and policy, and co-operate in Parliament upon all matters not specifically agreed on as open questions. Their chief is generally the First Lord of the Treasury. When a Commoner, he sometimes combines with that office the Chancellorship of the Exchequer, or another office, as that of Lord Privy Seal. The offices which are principally or exclusively occupied with the collection of the public revenue are the Customs, the Excise, the Stamps, the Post Office, the Office of Assessed Taxes, the Crown Lands, &c.

HOUSE OF LORDS.—The Strangers' gallery, as in the Commons, is not opened till after prayers. Their Lordships frequently sit during the day as a Court of Appeal, but do not usually assemble in their legislative capacity until a quarter-past four in the afternoon, and on Tuesdays, the day appointed for the Standing Committees, at half-past five. On the opening or closing of the session, the meeting of the House generally takes place at two o'clock. When the royal assent is to be given to bills by commission, the time of meeting is fixed to suit the occasion. A Commission for giving the Royal Assent in itself constitutes a House. Standing Order provides that if on a division in any stage of a bill in the House or in Committee thirty Lords are not present, the question is not decided, and the debate is adjourned to the next meeting. It is contrary to the Commons' privileges that the House of Lords should initiate or amend bills dealing with public expenditure or revenue, and bills or amendments of such a nature are therefore laid aside or disagreed to by the Commons; but the House of Lords can reject a money bill.

The House of Lords has jurisdiction as a Court of Ultimate Appeal. The Lords of Appeal consist of the Lord Chancellor (presiding) and four Lords of Appeal in ordinary, three constituting a quorum, and may also include such peers of Parliament as hold or have held high judicial office; there is nothing to prevent lay peers also attending. The Lords of Appeal in ordinary receive each a life Peerage as a Baron, conferring a seat in the House of Lords.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.—The House used to sit in St. Stephen's Chapel, the chapel of the Royal Palace of Westminster, until the year 1834, when that building was destroyed by fire. St. Stephen's Hall now occupies the site of the former House of Commons; the basement story of St. Stephen's Chapel, namely, the sub-chapel, still exists. The present House of Commons is at the north end of the Palace; technically speaking, the House does not include the galleries at each end of the chamber, or the space below the Bar. Above the Speaker's chair is a gallery for the Reporters. The galleries opposite are reserved for peers, foreign ministers, special visitors and strangers, to whom the larger portion of the gallery is assigned, and who obtain access by orders obtained from the Serjeant-at-Arms. Distinguished foreigners and other visitors are also seated below the Bar. Ladies are excluded from the House of Commons, but there is a gallery above that of the Reporters from which, concealed by a grating in front, they are allowed an imperfect view of the House. The galleries are opened as soon as the Speaker takes the chair.

Formerly the House met at 8, 9, and 10 o'clock in the morning. During the century previous to 1888 the time of meeting was a quarter before 4 o'clock, when the Speaker took his seat at the table, and the Chaplain read prayers. In 1888 the time of meetings was changed to 3 o'clock, except on Wednesdays and Saturdays. In 1902 the time was changed to 2 o'clock for an afternoon sitting, except on Fridays. At 7.30 the afternoon sitting was suspended until 9.0, when the evening sitting commenced with adjourned private business (if any) and Government business. On other days there was no time fixed for rising, but in 1888, by Standing Order, after 12 o'clock no opposed business could be taken, and the sitting closed at 1 o'clock. In 1906 the time was changed to 2.45, and the House now sits without any interval until 11.30. If, before he takes the Chair, the Speaker feels bound to ascertain the number present, he counts, and if forty members do not appear in two minutes, the House is adjourned to the next day at the customary hour. On Fridays the House meets at noon and sits till 5.30, if the orders of the day are not sooner disposed of. (See Sittings of the House.) The longest sitting on record of the House of Commons in modern times occurred during the Debate on the Protection of Person and Property (Ireland) Bill, when the debate was prolonged for 41 hours, viz. from 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the 31st Jan., 1881, till 9 o'clock in the morning of the 2nd Feb. The House does not usually sit on Saturday; when it does, it meets at noon, and seldom sits late into the evening of that day. At the opening of each session the time of meeting is 2 o'clock, when the speech from the Throne is delivered, and the two Houses reassemble for business at 4 o'clock. (See also Business, Order of, &c., in Parliament.)

LORD HIGH CHANCELLOR.—This distinguished functionary being keeper of the great seal, is by prescription Speaker of the House of Lords and is usually a Peer. When royal commissions are issued for opening the Session, for giving the royal assent to bills, or for proroguing Parliament, the Lord Chancellor is usually one of the Commissioners, and reads the royal speech upon the occasion. When the Sovereign opens or closes the Session in person, the Lord Chancellor stands on the right of the throne and hands to the Monarch the speech opening or terminating the annual labours of the Legislature.

MONEY BILL.—The Parliament Act defines a money bill as a public bill which, in the opinion of the Speaker, contains only provisions dealing with any of the following subjects—the imposition, repeal, remission, alteration, or regulation of taxation; the imposition for the payment of debt or other financial purposes of charges on the Consolidated Fund, or on money provided by parliament, or the variation of any such charges; supply; the appropriation, receipt, custody, issue or audit of accounts of public money; the raising, or guarantee, or the repayment of any loan. The expressions, "taxation," "public money," and "loan" do not include any raised by local authorities for local purposes. Every money bill when sent up to the House of Lords, and when presented to the Sovereign, shall be endorsed with the certificate of the Speaker, signed by him, that it is a money bill. Before giving his certificate the Speaker shall consult, if practicable, two members appointed from the Chairmen's panel at the beginning of each session. See also Appropriation Bill, Supply; Ways and Means.

MOTIONS.—Every proceeding in Parliament is based on a motion made by a Member (and seconded, if required), whereon the question is put from the Chair, which is decided by the House in the affirmative or the negative. A substantive motion, i.e. a motion not consequent on the proceeding before the House, such as motions calling upon the House to make an order, or to agree to a resolution, must be made upon a notice printed on the notice paper for the sitting when the motion is made, and these motions, as a rule, must be moved by the Member in whose name the motion stands. Many motions made in the House are formal motions that arise from the proceeding in which the House is engaged, such as motions for adjournment, and on a report from a Committee, &c. Previous notice of these motions of necessity cannot be given.

Motions, save motions consequent on an order of the day or made in Committee, require a seconder, although in practice the Speaker does not call upon a seconder of a motion, unless the propriety of the call be obvious. See also Ballot for Notices of Motion.

MOTIONS FOR LEAVE, &c.—See Bills, Motions for.

NAMING A MEMBER.—If a Member is guilty of persistent disorder, the Speaker calls the particular attention of the House to him and to his conduct by calling upon the Member by his name, and thereby shows that such Member has incurred the displeasure and censure of the House. When the Speaker has named a Member, a motion must be made forthwith that the Member be suspended from the service of the House. See also Conduct of Members.

NEW PARLIAMENT; ELECTION OF SPEAKER, &c.—On the day appointed by Royal Proclamation for the return of the writs, after a General Election, the Members meet in each House. In the House of Lords the Commissioners representing the Sovereign sit, and before these Commissioners the Commons are summoned, as upon the commencement of an ordinary session. Both Houses are then informed by the Lord Chancellor, one of the five Lords Commissioners, that as soon as the Members have been sworn, the Sovereign will declare the cause of their being called together; and the Commons are then directed to proceed to their chamber forthwith, and there elect a Speaker who is to be presented next day for the Sovereign's approval. New Peers having been introduced in the Lords, that House adjourns to the next day. Meanwhile, the Commons proceed in their own House to elect their Speaker. The process of election is, briefly, as follows:—The Clerk of the House rises in his place at the table and points to a Member (previously prepared as to the course that is to be taken), and without having spoken a word he (the Clerk) sits down again. The Member indicated then rises and, addressing the Clerk, proposes that some other Member (who also has been previously prepared for the motion), "do take the Chair of this House as Speaker." The motion is seconded by another Member, usually one who has been Leader of the House of Commons, or has held a similar post of importance. On the motion being carried, and the Member proposed to be elected expressing his willingness to accept the office, the new Speaker is conducted to the Chair, from which he addresses the House in a speech of thanks, &c. If another Member is proposed for the office, the claims of each nominee are discussed in a debate, and decided upon, if necessary, by a division. The Mace, which had been placed below the table, is now laid thereon, where thereafter it always appears during the sittings of the House with Mr. Speaker in the Chair.

Next day the Speaker himself, at the head of the Commons, presents himself to the Royal Commissioners attending in the House of Lords to receive him, and the Sovereign's approval of the election of the Speaker is accorded; Mr. Speaker afterwards making one of the speeches which give him his name, and therein claiming, as he says, for himself, and on behalf of the Commons, "all their ancient and undoubted rights and privileges." The Sovereign has in former times appeared in person in these proceedings, but of late years the Commissioners represent the King, or Queen, who usually does not appear upon the scene until two or three days later, the day namely appointed for the formal opening of Parliament and the delivery of the King's, or Queen's, "Speech." (See also Session, Sittings of Parliament, Speaker, &c.)

OATH, OR AFFIRMATION.—See Business.

OFFICE (ACCEPTANCE OF).—See Chiltern Hundreds.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.—These are the stages of bills and other matters already ordered to be taken into consideration, and so forming part of the appointed business of each day's sitting. Orders of the Day may be superseded by an amendment substituting for it a resolution of the House; or become "dropped" when, if the order of the day is read, no action be taken thereon. Such orders as are not reached, owing to a prior adjournment of the House, are put down for the next sitting. For "Passing to the Orders of the Day," see Previous Question.

ORIGIN OF BILLS.—Generally speaking, with the Crown originate bills of amnesty;—with the House of Lords all bills relating to a restitution in blood and to restitution of honours;—with the House of Commons all bills relating to the public income and expenditure, which must receive the previous recommendation of the Crown. Bills affecting the royal prerogative require the consent of the Crown. It has always been held that in the Lords should originate bills of "pains and penalties," or other measures founded upon oral testimony, mainly because the Commons had not always the power possessed by the Lords of examining witnesses upon oath.

PALACE OF WESTMINSTER, THE.—See House of Commons, &c.

PARLIAMENT.—The Commons are not the Parliament, neither are the Lords nor the Crown; but the Sovereign and three "Estates" of the realm, the lords spiritual, the lords temporal, and the commons, united, constitute the High Court of Parliament, and exercise the legislative functions of the realm; though it is usual to speak of the King, Lords, and Commons as the "three branches of the Legislature." A peer is as much a member of Parliament as a commoner, while the Crown is a whole estate of Parliament centred in the person of an individual. The two Houses convened by royal authority, and acting jointly with the Crown, constitute the Legislature or Parliament; and its acts are called indifferently "Statutes" or "Acts of Parliament"; they have the full force and effect of law. (See "Bills.") Parliament fully assembled consists of the King, with the two estates of the peerage, sitting in one House, and the Commonalty by their representatives standing below the bar. Neither of the Houses ever deliberates in the presence of the Sovereign, nor will either of them permit any allusion in debate to his sentiments. The King, Lords, and Commons, in their united character, exercise none but the legislative functions. Taken together they are the Parliament. The power of Parliament is held to be transcendent, and subject to no limitation whatever. An Act of Parliament binds every subject, and even the Sovereign, when specially named therein ; and no authority less than that of Parliament can dispense with or abrogate a statute. In addition to this legislative character, common to the three, each has separate functions peculiar to itself. In the Sovereign resides the whole executive authority. The House of Lords exercises judicial authority as a Court of Ultimate Appeal, and as a tribunal to which great officers of State, impeached by the other House, are amenable. (See also House of Lords, and House of Commons.)

PEERS OF PARLIAMENT.—The Peerage of Great Britain and Ireland may be described as consisting of, 1st, the Peers of England ; 2ndly, those of Scotland ; 3rdly, those of Ireland ; 4thly, those of Great Britain ; and 5thly, those of the United Kingdom ; according to their patents of creation. In the House of Lords, all Peers of England have seats and votes, so have all of Great Britain, and of the United Kingdom. It frequently happens that Peers of England, Great Britain, or the United Kingdom, hold an equal or superior rank in the peerage of Scotland or that of Ireland ; in which case, though popularly known by the higher dignity, they still have seats and votes in the House as of the inferior rank. It sometimes happens also that the eldest son of a peer has a seat in the House during the lifetime of his father. The peers of Scotland and Ireland have a place in the House only by their representatives, of which Ireland sends 28, who are elected for life, and Scotland 16, chosen for each new Parliament. By the Act of Union, no Irish Peer enjoying a British dignity can be elected a Representative Peer. But the case of an Irish Representative obtaining an English Peerage after his election was not adverted to ; there have consequently been Irish representatives sitting by their Irish dignities, though holding also English baronies. With a view to diminishing the number of non-representative Irish peers, but few new creations have been made during late years. Irish Peers, not representative, may sit in the House of Commons for other than Irish constituencies, but Scotch Peers may not. In addition to the hereditary Peers of Parliament, the four Judges of Appeal have the dignity of Barons for life, and are summoned to Parliament as such during their tenure of office. The two Archbishops, the Bishops of London, Durham, and Winchester, and 21 of the remaining Bishops of England and Wales, have seats in the House of Lords, not as Peers, but as Lords Spiritual of Parliament. The five first-mentioned prelates have their seats on appointment; the others take seats by seniority of consecration, the junior Bishops being for the time excluded. The Bishop of Sodor and Man has no seat in Parliament.

PETITIONS.—These must proceed from British subjects or foreigners resident in this country. When intended for the House of Lords, a petition must be addressed, "To the Right Honourable the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament assembled"; when addressed to the House of Commons, it may be directed, "To the Honourable the Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in Parliament assembled"; but more usually in this form, "To the Honourable the Commons of the United Kingdom in Parliament assembled." Its commencement must describe the petitioners thus: "The humble petition of the electors of the parish of — showeth that," &c., or, in the case of an individual, his name and occupation must be stated thus: "The humble petition of John Brown, carpenter, showeth that," &c. The statement of grievance must then follow; and the whole must conclude with a specific prayer. The omission of a prayer is fatal to the reception of a petition, for no mere remonstrance or detail of grievances will be received. The prayer should be thus introduced: "Wherefore your petitioners humbly pray that your Honourable House will be pleased to," &c., the particular relief expected being here stated. To the whole petition must be added the words, "And your petitioners as in duty bound will ever pray, &c.;" immediately thereupon must follow the signatures; of which one at least must be on the same sheet of paper, or skin or parchment, as the petition—not pasted or otherwise appended. The signatures or marks must be original—not copies nor signatures of agents on behalf of others, except in the case of illness; thus no chairman of a public meeting can sign for the whole meeting; in the case of such an informality the petition is received only as that of the individual signing. But the common seal of a Corporation is received as the petition of the whole corporate body, and the Corporations of London and Dublin have the right to petition without the intervention of a member. The address of each petitioner must be affixed to this signature. Only signatures which are written on sheets headed in every case with the prayer of the petition will be valid ; but on all sheets after the first, the prayer may be reproduced in print or by other mechanical process. The first sheet must be in writing on parchment or on paper, free from erasures or interlineations, and composed in English, or accompanied by a translation, which the presenting member certifies to be correct ; but no letters, affidavits, or other documents can be annexed. Petitions are rejected if not respectful and temperate in language, free from imputations upon the character and conduct of either House of Parliament, the Courts of Justice, or other constituted authorities. No reference is permitted to any debates, or to any motions supposed to be in preparation ; while petitions praying for a grant of public money or for the remission of customs, stamps, or other duties (when payable by any person) can only be received on the recommendation of the Crown. The presenting member is expected to affix his name to the beginning of the petition, as well as to examine whether all the necessary conditions have been complied with ; and, though no debate is allowed on a petition, the Committee on Public Petitions subsequently subject all those documents to a severe scrutiny. Petitions for presentation may be forwarded by post free of charge, to any member of either House, in parcels open at the ends, marked outside, " Parliamentary Petitions," and not exceeding 32 ounces in weight.

PRESS GALLERY.—Galleries have been constructed and set apart for the use of the reporters for the press. See also Strangers.

PREVIOUS QUESTION, MOVING THE.—When a motion has been made upon which the House is unwilling to come to a decision, the motion can be withheld from the decision of the House by moving " the Previous Question," or by an amendment to the motion proposing that " the House do now proceed to the Orders of the Day," or " do pass to the public business of the day." These amendments, which, if agreed to, set aside the original motion, can only be moved on privilege motions, which are brought forward without notice before the public business is commenced. The form of the " Previous Question" in the House of Commons is "That that Question (i.e. the original motion) be not now put." If the "Previous Question" be agreed to, the original motion cannot be put from the Chair, though it can be proposed on a subsequent occasion. In the House of Lords the form for the "Previous Question" is "whether the original question be now put," and those who support the "Previous Question" vote against that motion.

PRIVILEGES OF PARLIAMENT.—These are of three kinds: 1st, the privileges which appertain to members individually; 2nd, those which belong to either House in its collective capacity; 3rd, those of both Houses jointly. From well-known precedents it appears that the Lords and Commons, acting concurrently, can assume the supreme power whenever the throne is vacant, or the Sovereign incapable of exercising the royal functions. The separate privileges of either House are extensive, but they are, at the same time, uncertain and indefinite. Amongst them are the power of committing individuals to prison, the power of publishing matters which, if not issuing from such high authority, might become the subject of proceedings in a court of law, the power of directing the Attorney-General to prosecute persons accused of offences against the laws, or affecting the privilege of Parliament, and, finally, a power vested in each House respectively of doing anything in accordance with the law of Parliament which may be necessary for the vindication or protection of itself in the exercise of its own constitutional functions. In the daily proceedings of Parliament questions of privilege take precedence of all other business. The privileges of individual Members of Parliament are freedom of speech and person, including freedom from legal arrest and imprisonment. Parliamentary privilege, however, does not extend to indictable offences, to contempts of the courts of justice, or to cases made felonies and misdemeanours by the laws of bankruptcy. By bankruptcy, a Member's seat becomes vacant. Members of Parliament are exempt from obeying subpoenas, and serving on juries. "Privilege of Parliament" continues to Peers at all times, and to Commoners for a "convenient" time after prorogation and dissolution.

Peers are entitled to be present at the coronation of the Sovereign, and if Parliament be in session at the time, the Commons also attend, with their clerks and officers. Peers cannot be outlawed in any civil action, nor can any attachment lie against their persons; they are exempt from attending courts-leet, or the posse-comitatus ; when arraigned for any criminal offence, it must be before their peers, who return a verdict, not upon oath, but upon honour ; they also have the privilege of sitting covered in courts of justice. Peers becoming bankrupt, or in Scotland having their estates sequestrated, are disqualified from sitting or voting until after the bankruptcy is annulled, or the debts discharged. See also Commitments for Breach of Privilege.

PROGRESS, REPORT OF.—A Committee of the whole House cannot adjourn its sittings, or any proceeding therein, to a further day. If the transactions with which a Committee is charged are not completed, in the Lords, when the House is resumed, the Chairman moves, "That the House be again put into Committee" on a future day, and in the Commons, he reports "progress," and asks leave to sit again.

The motion that the Chairman do report progress is also used in Committee in order to interrupt or to arrest the procedure therein, in the same way that motions for adjournment are moved in the House.

PROROGATION.—See Sittings of Parliament, Interruption of.

PROVISIONAL ORDER.—See Bills.

QUESTION.—When a motion has been made and seconded, it merges in the question which is proposed by the Speaker to the House. Thereupon debate arises, and amendments may be moved thereto.

When a question has been proposed from the Chair, the question, subject to amendments, must be decided by the House in the affirmative or negative, or the question may be avoided by the proposal of the previous question, or it may be withdrawn upon unanimous leave given by the House. When debate on a question is closed, the question must be put. The Speaker rises, states the question to the House, beginning with "The question is that," and takes the sense of the House thereon by desiring that "as many as are of that opinion say 'Aye' or 'No'" (in the Lords the form is "Content" or "Not Content"). The Speaker in reply to the response made by the House says, "I think the Ayes (or the Noes) have it," and if that statement be not challenged, he finally declares, "So the Ayes (or the Noes) have it." If the Speaker's statement, "I think, &c.," be challenged, he directs the House to divide. (See also Debate and Divisions.)

QUESTIONS TO MINISTERS.—Notices of questions must be given by members in writing to the Clerk at the table, and are taken not later than three o'clock. No questions are taken after a quarter to four, except those which have not been answered in consequence of the absence of the minister to whom they are addressed. Any member who desires an oral answer may distinguish it by an asterisk, but notice must appear on the notice paper of the day before that on which an answer is desired. If questions are not distinguished by an asterisk, or the member is not present to ask it, or if it is not reached before a quarter to four, the answer will be printed with the votes, unless the member has signified his desire to postpone the question.

QUORUM.—See House of Lords and House of Commons.

REJECTION OF A BILL.—The usual mode of moving the rejection of a measure is by moving an amendment to the question, That the bill be now read the second time, whereby, if agreed to, the House order that the bill be read a second time on this day six months. (See also Bills.)

RESIGNATIONS.—See Chiltern Hundreds.

RESOLUTION.—A Resolution of the House consists of an entry in the Journal which begins with the word "Resolved." This form is used when the House arrives at decisions regarding its future conduct, such as are embodied in the Standing Orders, or when the House gives expression to its collective opinion, as in a resolution that the Ministry do not possess the confidence of the House, or when the House expresses an adverse opinion upon a bill by substituting for the motion that the bill be read a second time, a declaration that, for specified reasons, it is undesirable that the bill should become law.

When the House determines that a return should be made to the House, or that a matter should be dealt with on a future day, the Journal entry begins with the words "Ordered That," &c. See also Orders of the Day.

ROYAL ASSENT.—The act by which the Crown agrees to a bill which has passed both Houses is called "The Royal Assent," which may be given by the Sovereign in person robed, crowned, and seated on the throne in the House of Lords, or the royal assent may be given by commissioners appointed by the Crown for that special purpose and for the single occasion. The forms observed in both cases do not vary, and are as follow :—The Lords being assembled in their own House, the Sovereign or the Commissioners seated, and the Commons at the bar, the titles of the several bills which have passed both Houses are read, and the King or Queen's answer is declared by the Clerk of the Parliaments in Norman French. To a bill of supply (which on being presented by the Speaker has the precedence of other bills) the assent is given in the following words :—" Le roy (or, la reyne) remercie ses bons sujets, accepte leur benevolence et ainsi le veult." To public general bills it is given in these terms :—" Le roy (or, la reyne) le veult." To a private bill it is thus declared :—" Soit fait comme il est desire." Should the Sovereign refuse assent, it is in the gentle language of " Le roy (or, la reyne) s'avisera." As acts of grace and amnesty originate with the Crown, the clerk expressing the gratitude of the subject addresses the throne as follows :—" Les prelates, seigneurs et communes, en ce present Parlement assemblees au nom de tous vous autres sujets remercient tres humblement vostre majeste, et prient a Dieu vous donner en sante bonne vie et longue." The moment the royal assent has been given, that which was a bill becomes an Act, and instantly has the force and effect of law, unless some time for the commencement of its operation should have been specially appointed.

RULES OF PROCEDURE.—See Business, Debate, Motions, Standing Orders, &c.

SERJEANT AT ARMS.—There are two officers bearing this title, appointed by the Crown to attend the Houses of Parliament, and each has a deputy. In the House of Lords, the maintenance of decorum below the bar, near the throne, and in the gallery, devolves upon the gentleman and yeoman usher of the Black Rod, with their assistants, so that "the Serjeant at Arms attending the House of Lords" has less conspicuous duties to perform than those which devolve upon "the Serjeant attending the House of Commons;" both, however, execute the commands of the House to which they belong, as regards the apprehension or custody of all persons committed by order of Parliament. In the House of Commons, the Serjeant at Arms is an officer of considerable importance, assisted by a deputy and several subordinate officers; during the sittings of the House he occupies a chair close to the bar, and he directs a large proportion of the arrangements connected with the maintenance of order in the approaches to the House and the offices adjacent. He is at once the executive and the ceremonial officer of the lower House. He discharges the duties appertaining to his office, and gives effect to the directions of the House, communicated through the Speaker. The office is usually held by a gentleman of the military profession.

SESSION.—The term session, applied to the sittings of any public assembly, would be generally understood to signify the period during which they sat without any intermission or recess; but in Parliamentary language it has a more extensive signification. Unless Parliament be prorogued, the session is not closed. The House of Commons takes care to limit to one year the duration of certain Acts of Parliament, such as the Army (annual) or Mutiny Act, and certain statutes authorizing the levy of taxes, &c., without which the Government of the country could not be carried on; and the Crown, therefore, is compelled to resort to an annual assemblage of Parliament, which usually takes place in the beginning of February, though special circumstances may sometimes lead to the appointment of an earlier period. Six days at least, but generally thirty or forty days previous to the intended meeting, a proclamation is issued by the Crown, commanding the attendance of the Lords and Commons, usually at Westminster; but it may be at any place within the United Kingdom. The Houses being assembled, the Sovereign meets them in the House of Lords, either in person, or by Lords Commissioners, and declares the causes of the summons by a Speech, prepared beforehand by the Cabinet. Thus does a session commence.

The circumstance of either or both Houses adjourning their sittings, whether with or without the recommendation of the Crown, does not terminate the session. To effect that, there must be the prorogation of Parliament, under a royal commission, or by the Sovereign in person. The progress which a measure makes in one session does not influence its position in the next, or in any other, for if not completed previous to prorogation, it must in any following session be commenced de novo; though private bills are occasionally suspended from one session to another. The business usually transacted on the first day of every session is to take into consideration the speech from the throne; but for "form's sake," a bill always receives a first reading, in order, it is said, to show that Parliament is not obliged to give precedence to the subjects contained in the royal speech. The consideration of the King's speech has been delayed by discussions on other subjects, but generally the practice is to proceed with it at the afternoon sitting, namely, in about two or three hours after the speech has been delivered.

The usual duration of the session is from February to August ; but no number or length of adjournments destroys its continuity. (See Sittings of Parliament, New Parliament, &c.)

SIX MONTHS (THIS DAY).—See Rejection of a Bill.

SITTINGS OF PARLIAMENT, INTERRUPTION OF, &c.—The proceedings of Parliament may be interrupted or suspended either by adjournment, prorogation, or dissolution. Adjournment, as the term imports, is a postponement of the sitting or proceedings of either House of Parliament from one time to another specified for the reassemblage of the House, or the resumption of the business which was adjourned. The interruption of a sitting of both Houses by royal authority is called prorogation. Dissolution puts an end to the representative character of the individuals who at the time compose the House of Commons as well as to that of the Scottish Representative Peers, and Parliament cannot again assemble until after a general election.

The power of adjournment is inherent in each House respectively and no precise restraints upon this power are prescribed by the constitution. Either House may interrupt or postpone any debate, defer the consideration of any measure, or adjourn its sittings. The Lords frequently adjourn "during pleasure," which means that the Lord Chancellor or other Speaker of the House may, in the exercise of his discretion, take his seat on the woolsack, two other Peers being present, and resume business at any hour within the day on which such adjournment "during pleasure" has taken place, otherwise their Lordships' House will stand adjourned to the usual hour of meeting on the following day. The Commons, on the contrary, always adjourn to a time specified, though the suspension of a sitting often takes place. The adjournment of one House is no adjournment of the other. The Crown may, during an adjournment or prorogation, summon both Houses by proclamation. The pleasure of the Crown may be signified that both Houses should adjourn to a specified day ; this intimation is contrary to modern usage, and has not been exercised since 1814. Adjournment does not close the session ; prorogation does not terminate the Parliament ; the former is an act of either House; the latter an act of the Crown, whereby the duration of a session may be extended or curtailed, according to the royal pleasure, subject to Act of Parliament.

All unfinished proceedings (except an impeachment, and an appeal to the House of Lords) are quashed by prorogation; but during an adjournment they remain in statu quo. Prorogation is effected at the close of a session by royal commission, and then by proclamation until it is intended that Parliament should assemble for the dispatch of business. Prorogation has been resorted to in order to admit the reintroduction, otherwise not possible, until the next session, of a bill which has been rejected by the Lords. The Crown by proclamation may, notwithstanding a prorogation, summon Parliament on giving not less than six days' notice. In case of the embodiment of the Militia, Parliament must be summoned within ten days.

Dissolution is the civil death of Parliament, and may be effected by the pleasure of the Crown, or by lapse of time. Parliament under the Septennial Act 1715 ceases to exist after seven years from the day on which by the writ of summons it was appointed to meet. Under the Parliament Act 1911 five years was proposed to be substituted as the time for the maximum duration of Parliament. Until the reform Act of 1867 was passed, the law was that, however recently elected, a Parliament must expire in six months at most from the demise of the Crown, subject to dissolution by the Sovereign in a less period than six months from the death of his predecessor. Since that Act became law, however, the Parliament in being at any future demise of the Crown will continue as long as it would have otherwise continued, unless dissolved by the new Sovereign. If Parliament at the time of the Sovereign's death be separated by adjournment or prorogation, it must assemble immediately. If no Parliament be then in existence, the members of the last must again meet and may serve as a Parliament for six months, unless sooner prorogued; and so much importance appears to be attached to an instant assemblage, that upon the demise of the Crown even the intervention of Sunday has not been permitted to delay the meeting of both Houses. (See also Session.)

SITTINGS OF THE HOUSE.—Unless the House otherwise order the House shall meet every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at a quarter to Three, and shall, unless previously adjourned, sit until half-past eleven, when the Speaker shall adjourn the House without Question but, unless a Bill originating in Committee of Ways and Means, or unless proceedings made in pursuance of any Act of Parliament, or Standing Order, or otherwise exempted, under the provisions contained in this Standing Order, be then under consideration.

At Eleven o'clock on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays, except as aforesaid, and at Five of the clock on Fridays, the proceedings on any business then under consideration shall be interrupted.

After the business under consideration at Eleven and Five respectively has been disposed of, no opposed business shall be taken. All business not disposed of at the close of the sitting shall stand until the next sitting or until such other sitting on any day which the House sits as the member in charge of the business may appoint.

A Motion may be made by a Minister of the Crown at the commencement of Public Business, to be decided without Amendment or Debate, to the following effect:—

“That the proceedings on any specified business if under discussion at Eleven this night be not interrupted under the Standing Order ‘Sittings of the House,’” or to the following effect—“That the proceedings on any specified business, if under discussion when the business is postponed, be resumed and proceeded with, though opposed, after the interruption of business.”

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS (DUTIES OF).—This great officer, who presides over the deliberations of the House, was anciently, as at present, the organ or spokesman of the Commons, and delivers speeches on their behalf. Amongst the duties of the Speaker are the following: he reads to the Sovereign addresses from the Commons, and delivers, in the Royal presence, whether at the Palace or in the House of Lords, such speeches as are usually made on behalf of the Commons. He proposes and puts each question for the decision of the House, and, if necessary, directs the House to divide thereon, and appoints the tellers; he calls on the Members who rise to speak; he puts questions in the name of the House, when witnesses or prisoners are at the bar; reprimands persons who incur the displeasure of the House; issues warrants for new writs for the election of a Member, and makes communications in writing, when so instructed by the House.

He is the guardian of the rights and privileges of the House; and by his counsel ascertains that private bills are drawn in conformity with the Law of Parliament. He expresses the thanks or approbation of the Commons to dis tinguished personages ; entertains the Members at dinner in due succession and at stated periods ; and in the Chaplain's absence he reads prayers. He adjourns the House if forty members be not present (see House of Commons).

He maintains order in the House, either by the authority of his position, or under the standing and other orders of the House. The Speaker names Members who persist in disorder (see Naming a Member). In extreme cases the Speaker may order Members or others into custody until the pleasure of the House be signified. The Speaker must not enter into debate, though he may speak in a Committee of the whole House. On divisions, when the numbers happen to be equal, he gives the casting vote, otherwise he only votes when out of the Chair, that is when the House is in Committee. When Parliament is prorogued by the Sovereign, it is customary for the Speaker to address to the Throne from the bar of the House of Lords, a speech recapitulating the proceedings of the session.

His Privileges, Appointment, and Rank.—He is chosen by the House of Commons from amongst its own members, subject to the approval of the Crown, and holds office till the dissolution of the Parliament in which he was elected. His salary is 5000*l.* a year, with a furnished residence. At the end of his official labours he is rewarded by a peerage and a pension of 4000*l.* He is a member of the Privy Council and entitled to rank after Barons.

During the unavoidable absence of the Speaker, the Chairman of Committee of Ways and Means should preside in his stead ; and the Speaker may, during the sitting of the House, ask him to take the Chair. (See also Closure of Debate, Conduct of Members, Sitzings of the House, Chairman of Committee of Ways and Means, New Parliament, &c.)

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF LORDS.—The Lord Chancellor, or Lord Keeper of the Great Seal, is by prescription Speaker of the House of Lords. He is usually, but not necessarily, a peer. There has always been a Deputy Speaker, and formerly there were two or more ; but from the year 1851 there was only one, though in 1881 four Deputy Speakers were appointed. The Chairman in Committees generally fills this office (see Chairman of Committee). In the absence of the Lord Chancellor and the Deputy Speakers, it is competent to the House to appoint any noble Lord to take the woolsack. The Speaker is the organ or mouthpiece of the House, and it is therefore his duty to represent their Lordships in their collective capacity individuals. Unlike the Commons' Speaker, he votes on divisions, but he has not a casting vote, for should the numbers prove equal, the not contents are held to prevail. See also Lord High Chancellor and New Parliament.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.—See Session.

STANDING AND SESSIONAL ORDERS.—A Standing Order is a resolution agreed to by the House for the guidance and order of their proceedings, which the House has resolved to a Standing Order, and is operative until it is repealed. The Standing Orders regulate the sittings of the committees of the House, procedure on bills, the presentation of petitions, the creation of charges upon the public revenue, and other matters connected with the procedure of the House.

Sessional orders agreed to at the commencement of each session are renewed from year to year. These orders relate to Members returned upon double returns, and declare that the House will proceed with severity against persons guilty of electoral bribery. The Commissioners of the Police are also ordered to keep the streets leading to the House free and open.

Many resolutions governing the procedure of the House made in past Parliaments are continually observed, and have by custom received the force and operative effect of a Standing Order.

STRANGERS.—It is contrary to the Standing Orders of both Houses that any strangers should be present; and the publication of debates is theoretically a breach of privilege. But secret deliberation by Parliament has been so long renounced, that the right of the public to be present through their agents, the Reporters, is as clearly established as if no theoretical privacy had ever existed. Occasions have arisen, however, though at long intervals, when the House has thought proper to exclude strangers, but by a Standing Orders, strangers are not to be excluded except by a motion carried without amendment or debate, reserving to the Speaker or Chairman the power to order the withdrawal of strangers from any part of the House. As ladies are not technically "Strangers," their presence in their gallery is unaffected by the order of the House. (See House of Commons.)

SUPPLY (COMMITTEE OF).—All proceedings which relate to the public income or expenditure must originate with the House of Commons, and are commenced by the demand of the Sovereign, in the Royal Speech, for a supply of money to maintain the public service. The grant of Supply by the Commons is founded on the estimates of the annual expenditure presented by the Crown, and is made by resolutions which are agreed to, first in Committee of Supply, and then by the House, and subsequently sanctioned by the Appropriation Act. After the House has first gone into Committee of Supply on the Army, Navy, and Civil Services, the House resolves itself into Committee forthwith, in order that under the constitutional usage that grievances be heard before the grant of Supply general subjects are discussed on the question, "that the Speaker do leave the Chair." The payment of the grant of Supply is made by the Treasury when the issue is sanctioned by a royal order under the sign manual, and by the Consolidated Fund and the Appropriation Acts which are passed during the progress and at the close of the session. (See also Ways and Means.)

SUPPLY (BUSINESS OF).—"As soon as the Committee of Supply has been appointed and Estimates have been presented, the business of Supply shall (until it be disposed of) be the first order of the day on Thursday, unless the House otherwise order on the motion of a Minister of the Crown moved at the commencement of public business, to be decided without amendment or debate.

"Not more than twenty days, being days before the 5th of August, shall be allotted for the consideration of the Annual Estimates for the Army, Navy, and Civil Services, including Votes on Account. The days allotted shall not include any day on which question has to be put that the Speaker do leave the chair, or any day on which the business of Supply does not stand as first order.

"Provided always, that the days occupied by the consideration of Estimates supplementary to those of a previous Session, or of any Vote of Credit, shall not be included in the computation of the twenty days.

"Provided also, that on motion made after notice, to be decided without amendment or debate, additional time, not exceeding three days, may be allotted for the business of Supply, either before or after the 5th of August.

"On a day so allotted, no business other than business of Supply shall be taken before eleven, and no business in Committee or proceedings on Report of Supply shall be taken after eleven, unless the House otherwise order on the motion of a Minister of the Crown, moved at the commencement of public business, to be decided without amendment or debate.

"Of the days so allotted, not more than one day in Committee shall be allotted to any Vote on Account, and not more than one sitting to the Report of that Vote. At eleven on the close of the day on which that Vote is taken, and at the close of the sitting on which the Report of that Vote is taken, the Chairman shall forthwith put every question necessary to dispose of the Vote or the Report.

"At ten o'clock on the last but one of the allotted days, the Chairman shall proceed to put forthwith every question necessary to dispose of the Vote then under consideration, and forthwith put the question that all Votes outstanding be granted; and at ten o'clock on the last day the Speaker shall proceed to put forthwith every question necessary to complete the outstanding Reports of Supply.

"On the days appointed for concluding the business of Supply, the consideration of that business shall not be anticipated by a motion of adjournment; nor may any dilatory motion be moved on such proceedings for that business nor shall they be interrupted under any Standing Order.

"Any additional estimate for any new service or matter not included in the original estimates shall be submitted for consideration on some day not later than two days before the Committee is closed."

THE TWELVE O'CLOCK RULE AND SUPPLY.—

"That the proceedings on the reports of the Committee of Supply and Ways and Means, and other committees authorising the expenditure of public money, may be entered upon at any hour, though opposed, and shall not be interrupted under the provisions of any Standing Order regulating the sittings of the House."

WAYS AND MEANS (COMMITTEE OF). As in the Committee of Supply (see Supply) the annual expenditure of the nation is provided for, the levy of taxation to meet the Supply is voted in the Committee of Ways and Means.

All loans, duties, taxes, tolls, revenue, and imposts must be first considered in a Committee of the whole House, whilst the imposition of taxation for the service of the year is reserved for the Committee of Ways and Means. The propositions of Government for the levy of taxation are voted in the form of separate resolutions, which, having been agreed to by the House, are embodied into bills, and in due course become law. As in the case of other money bills, the Lords may reject, but cannot modify these bills; nor can their Lordships insert pecuniary penalties in any bill, unless it be a private bill. The Appropriation Bill is founded upon the resolution which closes the proceedings of the Committee of Ways and Means. (See also Chairman of.)
